

Reciprocal confidentiality agreement

LCD LaserCut AG is a technology and development partner in the electrical drive technology sector. Our core business includes the laser cutting of electrical sheet steels, fully complemented by innovative stacking technologies and comprehensive process engineering.

We manufacture prototypes and small batches, and support our customers as far as the mass production stage.

Confidentiality is a matter of course as far as we are concerned. With this in mind, we ask for reciprocal trust and confidentiality.

This is a binding and reciprocal agreement that no information of any kind from either the customer / partner or from LCD LaserCut AG will be made available to non-participating third parties in any form or by any method.

This agreement will continue to apply after projects are concluded.
